

Summer 2022 Procurement eNewsletter

This edition of the eNewsletter is PDF-ONLY!! Click the attached PDF to view.

The $25 Pop Culture Giveaway contest is included in the attached and is a little different this time. Somewhere in the PDF is a sentence that doesn't belong - as it's a common phrase used in a popular competition TV show. Find the sentence, and email it along with the name of the show to purchasing@hvlnc.gov.

First person to do so wins $25!

Summer Shoutouts

As we enter into the new fiscal year, this eNewsletter is devoted to special recognition to some who went above and beyond in assisting with procurement operations/updates last fiscal year. All staff members involved in procurement processes are greatly appreciated.

Locate the Answer to $25 Giveaway Below

Finance Leads

John Buchanan and Krystal Powel have worked tirelessly in making Oracle more user friendly and efficient. From developing new Project functions to revamping the requisition entry page, their efforts have had a direct positive impact on user experience. John also has been the visionary behind many procurement initiatives.

Angela Beeker

Angie brings a wealth of policy and legal knowledge to the table. She has consistently provided valuable insights and feedback over the past year, which helped tremendously in procurement policy adaptation and compliance implementation. She also found the hidden immunity idol.

City Engineers

Adam Steurer, Brent Detwiler, and their teams have been quick to share knowledge, ideas and helpful documents. Their internal filenaming policy played a big role in formulating the new Contract Repository Manual.

Budget Team

Adam Murr and Alex Norwood have been consistent in resolving budgetary concerns and handling budget adjustments in a timely and customer-first manner over the past year. Their efforts are greatly appreciated.

Allison Justus

Allison has provided excellent customer service on multiple occasions over the past year. From scheduling an impromptu training to working on time-sensitive software access, she has displayed a solution and customer-focused approach.

Ligia Guinea

As the city's Accounts Payable guru, Ligia has shown consistent initiative in handling time-sensitive payments while also maintaining a positive attitude. Her excellent customer service is an example to all.

Procurement Needs?

HUB

Repository

Contact Us

